Jason's CozyDay is a small family owned and operated Korean restaurant located at the heart of Korean Community in Philadelphia. "The sole purpose of opening up a restaurant the size of my apartment (about 800 square feet) was that I wanted my customers to feel right at home. Since I opened the restaurant a year ago, I have had so many customers complimenting my restaurant not only for the food but how comfortable and cozy they have felt. I think it is the family like atmosphere that turns first-time customers into our beloved regulars," explained Mr. Kim.

Regarding his choice in MoreBank, he said, "To me, I wanted a bank that would treat me the way customers were treated at my restaurant, and so MoreBank, a division of The Bank of Princeton made sense to me. When I am at the bank, the staff is professional and courteous. Their employees go above and beyond my expectations by not only greeting me with a smile every time, but also they recognize me and can associate me with my business. This fact makes the transactions that much faster and smoother. I bank with MoreBank because I feel appreciated when I walk in and they put a smile on my face before I walk out."
